

Math 13900 is designed for prospective elementary school teachers. Topics covered: geometric, measurement and spatial reasoning in one, two and three dimensions as the basis for elementary school geometry; metric and non-metric geometry, transformation geometry.

Not available for credit toward graduation in the College of Science.

Typically offered Fall and Spring.

3.00 Credit Hours